It's Your Sandbox - You make the rules!

Some look at this time after Labor Day as the beginning of the New Year, which coincides with the new academic year. It translates into getting re-focused to make the most of this window of opportunity for accomplishment before the Holidays are upon us!

But where to begin? How to get the results you really want?

Here's a quick, easy, NO-COST & effective way to help sort your priorities. You can use it for big priorities as well as daily tasks. This simple little tool takes just a minute, and helps give you clarity about your path.

Then print out and keep the results nearby to keep you on track to achieving what you want most. It's your sandbox!

One-chance huge discount to Work Less and Make More

Remember my recent interview with Sam Carpenter, author of Work the System? Sam has asked me to be his resource for one-on-one consulting and coaching. Because you are part of my list, in addition to the one-time 40% off workshop price, you get an additional $300 discount. Why should you be interested? Imagine:

How would it feel to wake in the morning relaxed, with no pressing urgencies and more money than you need? What if you could reduce your workweek to just a few hours, or propel yourself up the corporate ladder at a blistering pace? What if you could get what you want?

Sam Carpenter, author of the book Work The System: The Simple Mechanics of Working Less and Making More, whittled his 80- to 100-hour workweeks down to 2 hours. And now he earns more in a month than he used to in a year. Learn more.
